Almost all of us have struggled at least a little bit with maintaining our personal health and well-being during the COVID-19 pandemic.

There is no question that finding balance has been hard. But as we have adjusted to the new normal of living with COVID-19, many of us have started to think more about restoring a sense of balance. The same is true of organizations, including Union General Hospital.

Throughout the pandemic, our hospital has devoted an incredible amount of time, energy and resources to COVID-19.

Now, as we continue to see a high number of cases in our community and our hospital, we are trying to focus on regaining our balance between taking care of today’s challenges while preparing for tomorrow’s successes.

As we determine our annual hospital goals, assessing where we’ve been, where we are now and where we hope to be tomorrow, we are working hard to strengthen our capabilities and focus on our mission to provide quality service with compassionate care to advance the health and well-being of the community we serve.

Thank you for what you have done throughout the pandemic. And thank you for choosing to be part of the team that help advances the health and well being of the community where we live, work and go to school.
The Pulse is also available on the Union General Hospital website www.uniongen.org and is published quarterly for staff and the community. It will take 25 hours for an infectious dose of Covid-19 to transmit between people wearing non-fit-tested N95 respirators. If they’re using tightly sealed N95s—where only 1% of particles enter the facepiece—they will have 2,500 hours of protection.

Note: Results published in Spring 2021. The CDC expects the Omicron variant to spread more easily.

“Your Local Epidemiologist (YLE)” is written by Dr. Katelyn Jetelina, MPH PhD—an epidemiologist, biostatistician, professor, researcher, wife, and mom of two little girls. During the day she has a research lab and teaches graduate-level courses, but at night she writes this newsletter. Her main goal is to “translate” the ever-evolving public health science so that people will be well-equipped to make evidence-based decisions. This newsletter is free thanks to the generous support of fellow YLE community members.
RACHEL MORROW- Rachel dropped what she was doing and came out and helped me with Community Covid Vaccines- I was the only one available to do paper work and we had a line- she jumped right in and helped get forms completed and all organized--- She was my HERO!

Also,

Since Peg was busy with Flu Shots- TAMMI ANDERSON AND BARBARA GATES came to help with public Covid vaccines with absolutely NO NOTICE!

Thank you for all your help!

EMPLOYEE SENT THIS TO ME REGARDING PEG---

I just wanted to say that Peg sure does give a good shot! We didn’t even feel the booster or the flu shot. Only the med going in on flu shot. She came back around a few times to see how we were doing or if we had any problems with either one. Thank you all for being so caring😊

Shellie (in registration) has always gone above and beyond when it comes to helping me. She offers to come in early or stay late if needed. She’s also an excellent teacher and has TONS of knowledge in insurance/business office field. She is definitely a gem that doesn’t get “shined” enough.

Emily Love- Emily has been extremely helpful in training the new techs and has come back several times to the hospital to help after she has clocked out for the day. She always has a positive work attitude and is always in an upbeat mood. Makes it a real pleasure working with her.

Post-Holiday Blues (Is there a such thing? So glad you asked!)

The hype of getting ready for the holidays with meals and shopping for gifts and traveling can bring its share of anxiety or mood changes on a temporary basis. Some adults feed off the anxiety in a positive way and become even more productive during the holidays somehow managing the kids, grandchildren, jobs, shopping, decorating and entertaining while living for the madness we call the holiday season.

Although this sounds wonderful to utilize the anxiety in a positive way it is possible that the super powered holiday cheer spreader can later suffer from insomnia, low-energy, irritability, difficulty concentrating, and anxiousness. But unlike clinical depression, the distress is short-lived rather than long-term. So regardless if you stress during the holidays to the point of misery or you are the holiday trooper the risk of having post-holiday blues is a true phenomenon.

Healthcare workers tend to focus on screening for depression during the holidays of persons whom recently lost loved ones while in fact it is equally important to watch for the same symptoms in all patients after the holidays.

Finding research on this topic is very difficult yet mental health workers are quite familiar with the adrenaline changes that occur which can affect individuals. Unfortunately finding a balance between celebrations and down time is often difficult during the holidays. During Covid-19 many have missed celebrations therefore returned to traditions causing more stress again.

One reason we notice changes in working individuals after the holidays is unless they take an extended vacation during the year (highly unlikely in healthcare), they only experience this much time to celebrate with family during Christmas and New Year’s Holidays. This year they fell over the weekends which prevents some extra time off however the adrenaline rush was there for most.
Up to 25% of people feel let down after the holidays. During these “after holiday months” take care of your mental health and seek help if you feel Post-Holiday Blues that last more than two months. Clean up your diet and get back moving again and start sleeping to bring your life into a routine again that is healthy and your mood should improve. Give yourself some slack – YOU GOT THIS!

Healthy Weight Loss Goal Setting for the New Year

Goal setting and New Year’s Resolutions are on everyone’s minds at this time of the year. New year, new you, right? Here are some guidelines to help you set a healthy goal for 2022.

If weight loss is a component of your goal, be sure the goal is realistic and achievable. A healthy weight loss goal is to lose between 1 - 2 pounds per week. This goal rate gives you the best success rate to keep the unwanted weight off. So, for example if you want to lose 20 pounds, at a rate of 1-2 pounds per week, you should achieve your goal somewhere between 10-20 weeks. Remember, 1 pound is equal to 3,500 calories which has to be reduced from diet intake or burned off during exercise. If you reduce your calorie intake, or, you burn an extra 500 per day during exercise, you will lose 1 pound per week.

Having a specific diet plan is going to help you stick weight loss goals. Choose a diet plan in which you can commit to for a lifetime. Fad diets or quick fixes are not sustainable for a lifetime, instead choose a diet that are balanced and includes most of your calories coming from lean proteins, fruits, vegetables, and whole grains. If your diet plan includes costly ready-made meals or the elimination of whole food groups, it is likely that your plan is not healthy diet in which you are likely to follow for a lifetime. Some tips to help you improve your diet are to increase your water intake, increase fruit servings, increase raw vegetable intake, and decrease sugar consumption.

A healthy weight loss plan should also include exercise due to inactivity being closely linked to obesity. The recommendation for exercise is 30 minutes at least five days per week. Be sure to consult your doctor before starting an exercise program to ensure you are healthy enough for exercise. Walking, biking, swimming, yoga, or any form of activity that you enjoy can be used to help you reach your weight loss goals.

NATIONAL SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING PREVENTION MONTH

January is National Slavery and Human Trafficking Prevention Month. Across the nation, law enforcement and organizations strive to eliminate human trafficking. Join the effort to raise awareness and prevent human trafficking in your community.

Through a variety of tactics including violence and threats, traffickers force their victims into forced labor or commercial sex against their wishes. While it seems victims would be the poor, weak or a minority, every gender, race, religion and social-economic background can be impacted by human trafficking. As a result, the issue belongs to every community in the country. Despite the bleak picture human trafficking paints, there are ways to take action. Become informed and get involved.
HOW TO OBSERVE
Don’t let human trafficking become a part of your story. Find out how you can help change the narrative. Use #SlaveryHumanTraffickingPreventionMonth to share on social media.

- Get involved – If you suspect human trafficking report it. In the U.S. call 1-866-347-2423. For more information visit www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign. You can also volunteer through organizations committed to eliminating human trafficking. Contact local, state and regional service organizations to volunteer time, services or a donation.

Cervical Health Awareness Month

January is Cervical Health Awareness Month, and UNION GENERAL HOSPITAL wants you to know that there’s a lot you can do to prevent cervical cancer. Each year, more than 11,000 women in the United States get cervical cancer.

HPV (human papillomavirus) is a very common infection that spreads through sexual activity, and it causes almost all cases of cervical cancer. About 79 million Americans currently have HPV, but many people with HPV don’t know they are infected.

The good news?

The HPV vaccine (shot) can prevent HPV.

- Cervical cancer can often be prevented with regular screening tests and follow-up care.

In honor of National Cervical Health Awareness Month, Union General Hospital encourages:

- Women to start getting regular cervical cancer screenings at age 21
- Parents to make sure pre-teens get the HPV vaccine at age 11 or 12
- Teens and young adults also need to get the HPV vaccine if they didn’t get it as pre-teens. Women up to age 26 and men up to age 21 can still get the vaccine.
February is Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month
https://www.loveisrespect.org/get-involved/tdvam/

Dating violence is more common than people think, especially among teens and young adults: one in three teens in the US will experience physical, sexual, or emotional abuse from someone they’re in a relationship with before they become adults, and nearly half (43%) of college women report experiencing violent or abusive dating behaviors.

Every February, young people and their loved ones join together across the country for a national effort to raise awareness about the issue of teen dating violence through Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month (TDVAM). This annual, month-long push focuses on advocacy and education to stop dating abuse before it starts.

We are so excited to announce the theme for TDVAM 2022 is Talk About It. Talk About It is a call to action to young people and those who support them to engage in meaningful conversations about healthy relationships and navigate what may be unhealthy or even abusive.
Union General Hospital announces the 2022 It's a Girl Thing, Making Proud Choices Scholarship Program. Under the Program (1) $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to a deserving senior girl attending high school in Union Parish.

Every year we look forward to receiving the applications and reading about the students' accomplishments and the impact of our program in their lives. Go to www.uniongen.org or scan the code to download the application.

Due date to apply: March 31st, 2022

Diabetes Mellitus

What is Diabetes?
Diabetes is a disease that occurs when your blood glucose, also called blood sugar, is too high. Blood glucose is your main source of energy and comes from the food you eat.

Causes
Your cells become resistant to the action of insulin, and your pancreas is unable to make enough insulin to overcome this resistance.

How Insulin Works
The pancreas secretes insulin into the bloodstream. The insulin circulates, enabling sugar to enter your cells.

Risk Factors
Your risk increases if you have prediabetes or if a close family member, such as a parent or sibling, has type 2 diabetes.

Complications
- Cerebrovascular Disease
- Diabetic Nephropathy
- Coronary Vascular Disease
- Gastroesophageal Reflux
- Nerve Damage

Prevention
If you’re overweight, losing even 7 percent of your body weight — for example, 14 pounds if you weigh 200 pounds — can reduce the risk of diabetes.

March is National Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month

COLORECTAL CANCER: CATCHING IT EARLY

Colorectal cancer is the third most commonly diagnosed cancer in both men and women in the US. Routine testing can help prevent colorectal cancer or find it at an early stage, which is crucial for better survival rates.

- 90% 5-year survival rate if found at the local stage
- 39% diagnosed at an early stage partly due to low testing rates

Stages of Colorectal Cancer
- POLYP: Most colorectal cancers develop from these noncancerous growths.
- IN SITU: Cancer has formed, but is not yet growing into the colon or rectal wall.
- LOCAL: Cancer is growing in the colon or rectal wall; nearby tissue is unaffected.
- REGIONAL: Growth is through the wall of the colon or rectum; tissue or lymph nodes beyond the colon or rectal walls may also be affected.
- DISTANT: Cancer has spread to other parts of the body, such as liver or lungs.

Who Gets Colorectal Cancer?

Anyone can get colorectal cancer, but some people are at an increased risk.

- Sex
  - Women: 50 new cases per 100,000 per year, 2010-2014
  - Men: 150 new cases per 100,000 per year, 2010-2014

- Race/Ethnicity
  - Non-Hispanic White: 50 new cases per 100,000 per year, 2010-2014
  - Non-Hispanic Black: 50 new cases per 100,000 per year, 2010-2014
  - Hispanic/Latino: 50 new cases per 100,000 per year, 2010-2014

Hemoccult test kits are the first step in detecting colorectal cancer. This kit detects bleeding from the lower GI tract and is superior in detecting colorectal cancer. The Hemoccult is a screening, not a diagnosis for colorectal cancer.

Louisiana has the third highest incidence and fourth highest death (mortality) rate of colorectal cancer in the U.S.

The death rate in Union Parish from colon and rectum cancer was higher than the State and U.S. rates for the years 2012-2016.

Everyone has either experienced the virus, know someone who has or will be impacted by general deconditioning, reduced functional capacity, and speech and swallowing deficits common to post-COVID recovery.

Therapy services are focused on one thing during this healthcare crisis and that is to enable a return to normal daily activity in a safe and effective manner.

It has been determined that post-COVID patients can experience long-term complications related to prolonged inactivity, extended hospitalization with associated mechanical ventilation.

FOCUS AREAS:
- Deconditioning
- Pain
- Fatigue
- Damaged vocal folds
- Speech and Swallowing deficits
- Inability to perform/resume normal daily activities
- Depression/Isolation

Evidence cited by the US Department of Health and Human Services supports the fact that physical activity improves and maintains cardio-respiratory and muscular fitness and reduces the risk of chronic diseases, depression, and cognitive decline.

Our goal is to break the cycle of inactivity using Individualized Evaluation and Plan of Care to address the needs of each patient in order to meet the goal of returning to previous home and work-related activities.

Our licensed clinicians are able to determine the best path of care for these unique patients.

We are able to safely accommodate referrals of your post-COVID patients according to Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and Louisiana Department of Health guidelines in our outpatient facility.
