

IT'S A GIRL THING: MAKING PROUD CHOICES!

Personal Information Application

Union General Hospital's adolescent health program, It's A Girl Thing: Making Proud Choices, encompasses Anti-Bullying/Suicide Prevention, as well as Drug/Alcohol and Tobacco Prevention initiatives. Sponsored by Union General Hospital in Farmerville, LA, these programs are tailored specifically for girls. They aim to educate young girls on the importance of responsibility and self-pride. The topics covered include self-esteem, mental health, addiction issues, sexual health, and other relevant topics suitable for girls in grades 6th-12th. Sessions take place at Union General Hospital's Conference Room, schools, and various other venues. This consent form ensures that both the parent and the minor are informed about the program's content prior to participation.

It's a Girl Thing, Making Proud Choices

Respectful Behavior Policy:

Union General Hospital's It's a Girl Thing; Making Proud Choices program expects participants to conduct themselves in a manner conducive to the successful execution of scheduled activities during meetings. Girls who persistently disrupt the group, hindering others from benefiting from the program, may be asked to leave the meeting, with a warning note sent to the participant. If disruptive behavior persists, a letter will be sent to the parent or guardian, and the participant may be dismissed from the program.

The program reserves the right to remove any girl from participation if she does not align with the program's mission and goals. It serves as a safe space for girls and their mentors to openly discuss pertinent issues without fear of judgment or gossip. Maintaining confidentiality of all discussions within meetings or conversations is essential, and disclosing private information to individuals outside the program is strictly prohibited. Violation of this policy may result in immediate dismissal. While program representatives are obligated to report abuse, any concerns regarding this policy should be addressed to Claudia Wade, Director of Community Development and Grant Management, at 318-368-7075 or cwade@uniongen.org.

Program Rules

MEETING RULES

Rule #1: What is said in here stays in here.

To keep our group a place where you can feel safe to ask questions and discuss your feelings, it's important that you be able to speak freely. If you are afraid to ask a question, or fear rumors will be started about you or that your personal life will be broadcast to others, a group is just a place to sit for two hours. Let's try to get the most out of our time together and respect each other's privacy.

Rule #2: Respect is key.

Sometimes in a group, disagreements occur. This is very normal, especially when we are discussing controversial or uncomfortable material. It is impossible that everyone will agree on everything, so if someone has a different viewpoint than you do, let's talk about it instead of name-calling, or other disrespectful behaviors which go against the goal of keeping our group a safe place.

Rule #3: No interrupting.

If you want to talk and someone else is talking, please wait until they are finished even if you are REALLY excited about what you have to say! On the flip side of that, let's try to make sure that everyone in the group has a chance to say what they need to. It wouldn't hurt every now and then to check in with others and see if they have something to say about a particular topic.

Rule #4: Please be on time.

Our group operates like a relationship. It's a commitment. Try your best to be on time, or let us know when you will be late or unable to attend.

Rule #5: Turn off your cell phone.

Even though your cell phone is your lifeline to the outside world, texting or taking calls while you are in the group sends a message that the group and the members of the group are not important to you.
